

Tracee Briggs is beginning her 24th year as a teacher. She has been in the Dodge City school district all of those years, teaching 2nd-6th grades at Northwest Elementary, Linn Elementary and Comanche. She has been at Comanche for the last 13 years.

Tracee grew up on a farm near Ensign, KS. She received her bachelor's degree from St. Mary of the Plains College and her master's degree from Fort Hays State University. In 2011, she was nominated for Kansas Teacher of the Year.

Her family includes her husband, Justin, who is an assistant principal/athletic director at Comanche; son, Brandon and his wife Jordyn; daughter Brenna and her husband Jared. Brandon graduated from Fort Hays State University with a degree in physical education and currently works on the family farm. Brenna is a 1st grade teacher at Sacred Heart Cathedral School. This past summer the Briggs' family was blessed with two little bundles of joy. Abram Charles was born to Brenna and Jared; and Mattie Jo was born to Brandon and Jordyn. In her free time, Tracee enjoys spending time with family and friends, exercising, sporting events, and reading.
